Operation Hat Trick Mission Statement:

Operation Hat Trick generates awareness, support, and funding for the recovery of America's wounded warriors, both active servicemembers and veterans. OHT pursues these goals through the sale of OHT branded merchandise, proceeds of which are distributed to selected organizations that provide direct services to our wounded warriors.

How We Selected Our Project ?

We chose Operation Hat Trick as our project when our teacher showed us a video, she watch at one of our schools staff meetings. Our baseball team wanted teachers to sponsor the team by donating money by the player. Berlin High School's JAG program has sponsored twelve players.

Project Hat Trick Description

For every two hats sold project hat trick donates a third to a wounded service member or veteran. Our school purchased 72 hats for our baseball and softball teams both J.V. and Varsity. We chose this as our senior community service project because donating money to Project Hat Trick not only helps in our own local community but also throughout the state.

The Operation Hat Trick OHT program is dedicated to the memory of Mike Keady and Mike Keady - two Army SERAs who fought together, died together in 2006, and are buried together in Arlington National Cemetery. A portion of your purchase of vintage OHT apparel is contributed to the Veterans' Administration Medical Center's Essential First Fund. (Left: Mike Keady, Right: Mike Keady)

How Many Students Participated?

Approximately 14 students participated in the fundraising used to fund our donation.

What Was The Impact Of Our Project?

Our project allowed for our small school to not only get quality hats for our softball and baseball teams, but to also help veterans with head injuries to feel normal again.

What Did We Learn From Operation Hat Trick and Why Was it Important?

We learned that many veterans come back with severe head wounds that leave them scarred and feeling abnormal and that they stick out. We also learned that something as simple as a hat can make the veterans feel normal and complete again.

The Definition of Normal?

Normal:

Adjective

1. Conforming to the standard or the common type; usual; not abnormal; regular; natural.
